MEMO

10 December 1952

Ch/R has no objection to this proposal as far as internal CIA distribution is concerned. However, if a provisional report is what it implies, it would appear that distribution should be limited to those agencies who could reasonably be expected to contribute to the final report. If so, the additional cost of reviewing the external distribution list for each case would seem to be a small price to avoid wide distribution of reports which we are not willing to approve as a formal report on RR.
